DETAILED ACTION

1. The Amendment filed on 1/9/2006 has been entered.

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

2. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 1/9/2006 has been entered.

Election/Restrictions

3. Claims 27-30 are withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected Group II, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 1/26/05. Note last Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

6. Claims 1, 5-13 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over King et al (US 6,220,329) in view of Simpson et al (US 5,641,551).

King et al discloses the invention substantially as claimed except that King et al is silent on the claimed four different patterns, i.e. cutting blades 2-5. However, Simpson et al teaches an apparatus method for cutting webs wherein multiple patterns may be cut out by a cutting assembly. Note Fig. 2. This also includes cutting transversely. Simpson et al's teachings suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art that multiple pattern cutting is desirable for more efficient run of orders during the operation of the invention. Thus, it would have been obvious to the ordinary artisan at the time of the instant invention to provide the invention of King et al with the multiple pattern adaptability, e.g. the claimed four additional patterns as taught and suggested by Simpson et al in order to facilitate fulfillment of multiple orders of different patterns.

Regarding claim 5, although modified invention of King et al is not explicit on the specific pattern, i.e. dragon tooth, it would have been obvious to the ordinary artisan at the time of the instant invention to provide the modified invention of King et al with the dragon tooth shape in order to facilitate production of one of various well known shingle designs, since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the shape of a component. A change in shape is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, especially since such a change does not render unexpected or unobvious results. In re Rose, 105 USPQ 237 (CCPA 1955).

Response to Arguments

7. Applicant's arguments filed 1/9/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

In response to Applicant's basic argument that there is no suggestion to combine the references essentially because the references do not have five cutting blades, the examiner recognizes that obviousness can only be established by combining or modifying the teachings of the prior art to produce the claimed invention where there is some teaching, suggestion, or motivation to do so found either in the references themselves or in the knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art. See In re Fine, 837 F.2d 1071, 5 USPQ2d 1596 (Fed. Cir. 1988) and In re Jones, 958 F.2d 347, 21 USPQ2d 1941 (Fed. Cir. 1992). In this case, the suggestion to combine stem from both references. King et al's invention effect substantially the same function of cutting shingles and multiple patterns albeit in serial form. However as noted in the rejection supra, Simpson et al's teachings suggest the desirability of having multi-pattern cut functionality in a reduced pass facilitated by eliminating multiple cutting cylinders.
